New Carnations for 1941

Introduction of new varieties of Carnations is necessary even if they are not always a great improvement on the variety they are meant to replace. The reason is simply that vegetative reproduction is necessary as Carnations will not come true from seed. After propagating by cuttings for a number of years a variety deteriorates. Some last longer than others, but sooner or later they must be replaced, therefore, new varieties must be introduced year after year if we are to maintain the present standard.

CHARM (Patented). A new salmon pink variety with a flower nearly as large as Laddie and with a little darker color. It grows tall and has a very stiff stem. The plants grow well either in the field or planted indoors. This is the variety for those who desire the highest quality.

$3.00 per dozen

$20.00 per 100

$150.00 per 1,000

DARK PINK MAYTIME (Illustrated on front cover). A deep pink sport of Maytime and has the same characteristics as the parent plant. The flower has the same form and substance but is a little larger than Maytime. Production is much higher than is that of the average variety. Plants grow tall and erect, allowing close planting. It is a very rapid growing variety. The keeping quality of the flowers is outstanding. The first flowers are medium pink, similar to Pink Treasure, but darken rapidly so that within two or three weeks they are the color of Boston Ward, and they remain that color.

$2.00 per dozen

$10.00 per 100

$90.00 per 1,000

HERMOSA. A large and beautifully formed light pink seedling introduced last year. The color is richer and slightly deeper than that of Virginia. The plants are vigorous and free, stems are long and the calyx is firm. Production is good, and the flowers keep perfectly.

$1.50 per dozen

$8.50 per 100

$75.00 per 1,000

POLLYANNA (Patent pending). Agreements must be signed. This variety will meet the demand for a salmon flesh color which will compare favorably in quality with the leading commercials and yield sufficiently to be profitable to grow. Being a seedling from Light Pink Abundance crossed with a seedling variety insures its productiveness, the growth being somewhat sturdier and slightly shorter in stem. The bloom is good sized and symmetrical and keeps exceptionally well. The calyx does not split. The color is a good Laddie shade of salmon flesh which holds its freshness late into summer.

$3.00 per dozen

$15.00 per 100

$125.00 per 1,000

SEA SHELL (Illustrated on back cover). A large, well-formed, full-petaled seedling having a lovely and delicate shell pink color. Plants of this variety are especially fine, being large and bushy, vigorous and absolutely clean. Stems are long and stiff, but not brittle. The calyx does not split at any time. Production is good, and the flowers keep and ship well. It is an easy variety to propagate and grow. The color is lighter and softer than that of Virginia or Maytime.

$3.00 per dozen

$15.00 per 100

$125.00 per 1,000

WHITE MAYTIME. A pure white sport of Maytime, exactly like the parent variety in every respect except color. The Maytime blossom is a beautifully formed flower, and in this rich, pure white is especially appealing. A productive and profitable commercial white.

$2.00 per dozen

$10.00 per 100

$90.00 per 1,000

WHITE PETER FISHER. A pure white sport of Peter Fisher. Both plants and flowers are like those of the parent. The bloom resembles an improved flower of Ivory, but of course the stem and foliage are much heavier. It is a clean, vigorous variety, easy to grow and entirely satisfactory.

$1.50 per dozen

$8.50 per 100

$75.00 per 1,000

Novelty Carnations

BARBARA BRIGHAM. A sport of Golden Wonder having flowers which are a beautiful light apricot with pink pencilings. The form, size and habits of growth are the same as those of Golden Wonder. It is a good producer and a good keeper. The flowers combine splendidly with other flowers in floral arrangements.

$1.00 per dozen                      $6.00 per 100                      $50.00 per 1,000

CHIEF KOKOMO (Patented). The pink markings on the yellow background awakened both the florists and the public to the novel colors and combinations that carnations possess. The flowers are larger than average and the stems are stiff. Remains good during the hot weather of early summer.

$2.00 per dozen                      $12.00 per 100                      $100.00 per 1,000

IMPROVED DELICACY. A sport of Delicacy, having the same characteristics as the parent except that the pencilings on the white petals are a much darker red than was the case with Delicacy. This improves the appearance of the blooms considerably. The flower is compact and beautifully formed. Stems are of medium length. Very little splitting occurs.

$1.50 per dozen                      $8.50 per 100                      $75.00 per 1,000

$2.00 per dozen                      $12.00 per 100                      $100.00 per 1,000

PELARGONIUM. Most charming and most profitable of the English varieties available at current prices, and one of the loveliest novelties being offered today. The color is a white ground, overlaid on each petal with crimson maroon, creating a replica of the old pelargonium. The bloom is large and of good substance. The plants are tall, the stem is good, and the calyx does not split. The variety is not a heavy producer, but the flowers will always command premium prices on any market.

$2.00 per dozen                      $10.00 per 100                      $90.00 per 1,000

PHAROAH. (Illustrated on inside rear cover.) This is one of the most beautiful novelty carnations of all time, and is the only carnation we know of possessing this unusual color. The petals are a delicate shade of orange with a slightly pink tinting. The tips of each petal are fringed with red. There are no pencilings. The blooms are very large and full (The photograph is natural size), and in spite of the size of the flower, the percentage of splits is a fraction of one per cent. The plants are very large and bushy with broad foliage and fine stiff stems. The flowers are splendid keepers, and will almost always command premium prices. Production is well above the average.

The blooms are especially fine in the Spring. Plants are large and bushy. Stems are long and heavy. Some splitting occurs, but this is not serious. A slight flaking appears during the winter, but this enhances rather than detracts from the attractiveness of the bloom.

Red Carnations

BARBARA FARR. A scarlet sport of Spectrum Supreme. The flowers are a trifle lighter in color than those of the parent plant, although over a large part of the season it is difficult to distinguish them. Production is better than with Spectrum, and less splitting occurs. In other respects the plants and flowers are the same as those of Spectrum Supreme. Of the two varieties, Barbara Farr is to be preferred.

Plants grow very rapidly, and are tall and erect, allowing the variety to be planted closer than the average. Some splitting occurs at times, but production is so high that if all splits were thrown away, the number of salable flowers produced would still be greater than the entire production of the average variety. It is unsurpassed in keeping quality. The flowers maintain their size, color and keeping quality during hot Spring weather better than any other carnation in this color class.

Treatment of Insects and Diseases

RED SPIDERS. This is the worst insect with which carnation growers have to contend. By far the best method of control is by fumigation with naphthalene base compounds. It is preferable to spray as little as possible. Rotenone sprays are generally safe and effective on carnations. Syringing with a fine stream of water under pressure may be practiced when plants are small and on bright, warm days, but should never be done whenever any fungus or bacterial disease is present.

APHIDS AND THRIPS. These are comparatively minor problems, and are easily remedied, although thrips will continue to blow in from outside as long as ventilators are open. Nicotine in one form or another is the best cure. Nicotine fumigation every four or five days until the insects are cleaned up is the most effective means of control. Spraying with Paris Green and brown sugar is effective in the case of thrips, but leaves the foliage dirty and sticky for months.

RUST. Sulphur is the most effective preventative and cure for rust. Use a fine dusting sulphur, and apply it with a good blower. Use it on young plants as soon as the first trace of rust appears, and apply on bright, warm days. Sulphur may safely be used once a week or oftener. In the field where dusting is impractical, lime-sulfur may be sprayed. Bordeaux or other copper sprays have very little effect on rust. Keep plants dry, provide plenty of air, and run houses cool.

Treatment of Insects and Diseases

RHIZOCTONIA STEM ROT. Foliage becomes dull, losing green color; entire plant wilts suddenly. Stem near soil wet and soft; the shredded bark sloughing off from the slightest twist, exposing harder tissues beneath. Roots remain intact. Brown knots of fungus mold evident about decayed portion of stem and adhering soil. Is caused by a common mold fungus which inhabits most soil and soil contaminated sand. It is not carried in cuttings. Ordinarily the mold is a harmless soil fungus, but under favorable conditions it becomes a serious disease. It thrives under excessively moist and warm conditions. Control is a matter of correct watering and airing, sanitation, shallow planting, soil sterilization and soil rotation. Spraying is useless. Steam sterilization, or sterilization with tear gas, helps, but sterilized soil may easily become reinfected if plants are brought in from outside.

FUSARIUM BRANCH ROT. Begins with the wilting of a single branch. Leaves are a dull green, then yellow and straw colored. The affected branch dries and shrivels. Infection at first is localized in the stem or branch near crotches or nodes. Injuries of one sort or another caused by careless handling, too rapid growth, topping, picking, etc., are essential for infection except where the disease has been carried with the cuttings. Upon cutting the branches lengthwise, the conductive tissue under the bark is seen to be yellowish or reddish brown up and down following the sap channel. If the branch is removed before the disease has progressed into the stem, the plant may possibly be saved. Later the brown color expands into the inner tissue of the stem and into the outer bark from the conductive tissue. When the stem is invaded, the branches on the infected side die, and ultimately the entire plant succumbs. The inside tissue of an invaded stem is dry and of a dull brown color, similar in appearance to dead timber. As the infection is usually aerial, soil sterilization is of little value, and there is no known spray which will prevent or cure it. Sterilizing benches, flats, soil and sand are sanitary methods which are helpful, but do not expect to control Fusarium Branch Rot in this manner. Warm, moist conditions are favorable for the growth of the disease. Avoid excessive and overhead watering and injuries to plants. Provide plenty of air, and run houses cool.

ALTERNARIA BLIGHT. This disease is known as spot, blight or branch rot. Purple spots appear on leaves and flower parts, later browning and blighting the parts. Under moist conditions the blighted parts become overgrown with blackish or sooty masses of fungus. After benching, the fungus causes a prevalent branch rot centering at the nodes. Here the fungus causes dark colored spots or cankers which partially or completely girdle the branch. Ultimately the rot progresses deeper into the tissue, and the portion of the branch above wilts. The color of the invaded tissue is dark brown, almost black, and the color may extend from the bark to the wood. The discoloration extends inward from the outside, and does not follow the conductive tissue as does Fusarium. Infection takes place without the plant having first been injured, and almost always occurs in the field. Before branches wilt, the leaves are streaked or marked with whitish or light green areas. Certain varieties are more susceptible to the disease than others. Inside culture will usually eliminate Alternaria. Spraying with Bordeaux weekly from the time that plants go to the field until they are benched will form a chemical barrier between the plant and the fungus which is very effective. Alternaria is not carried in the cuttings, and any variety is likely to be attacked.

BACTERIAL LEAF SPOT. A foliage disease caused by a bacteria or microbe which progresses from the lower leaves upward, attacking the stem and bud only in very severe cases. The disease occurs only in the presence of injuries, but spiders, thrips, aphids, etc., will provide sufficient injury for the bacteria to gain entrance. It is, therefore, of vital importance that plants be kept free of insects. The development of the disease is slow at temperatures of 60 degrees or less, and very rapid at higher temperatures. Greenhouses should be kept cool, dry and well ventilated. There must be no overhead watering of any kind. Fortunately the disease may be cured or prevented by use of a spray consisting of 3 pounds of zinc sulfate, 1½ pounds alum, 4 pounds hydrated lime, and a good spreader to 50 gallons of water. Dusting with fine sulphur is a further precaution which may be taken.

Chrysanthemum Rooted Cuttings

The following list of Mum and Pompon Cuttings is probably the most complete that is published. It includes all the latest varieties, also all the well known standard kinds that are in demand. Our cuttings are shipped by the largest propagator in the country, where every care is exercised to deliver only first class, well rooted, clean and healthy cuttings. Many growers are realizing that it is cheaper in the long run to buy their cuttings than propagate their own. Orders placed in advance can be delivered exactly when wanted, and planted right in the bench, insuring rapid, healthy growth without any check.

NOVELTIES. The novelty section has been omitted but a list of this year's introductions will be issued after the current blooming season.

NOTE CAREFULLY. Cuttings are put up in bundles of 25, any change means additional expense and the following schedule shows price per cutting which will prevail where less than 25 of a variety is ordered. Orders for less than 5 of a variety are not solicited.

Where Price Per 100 Is	Price Per Cutting Will Be	Where Price Per 100 Is	Price Per Cutting Will Be

Pompon and Decorative Commercial Varieties

The term pompon is applied to those varieties which are of the true rounded type, and those very nearly approaching this type.

Decorative varieties are those which are a distinct departure from the rounded type. Their flowers are less compact, partly reflexed and display more of the color of the inner side of the petals.

Size of flower is indicated by S—small; Int.—intermediate; L—large.
